We believe that academic success is achieved through a balance of high expectations, personalised support and strong relationships.

Our Learning DNA underpins every aspect of Senior School life. It encourages pupils to become confident communicators, independent thinkers and reflective learners who are prepared not only for GCSE examinations, but for the opportunities and challenges that lie beyond them.

A culture of participation. A community of opportunity.

Life at Kimbolton extends far beyond the classroom. We believe young people grow through participation, challenge and experience, not observation. Every pupil is encouraged to embrace opportunities, discover new interests and contribute to the life of the school, developing the confidence, character and resilience that will serve them long after they leave Kimbolton.

One of the greatest strengths of a Kimbolton education is the breadth of opportunities available. Before specialising, pupils are encouraged to explore a wide range of interests, discovering talents they may never have realised they possessed. A Kimbolton pupil might be a scientist, a sports player, a musician, a performer, a cadet and a volunteer—all within the same week.

A culture of participation

Whether joining a club, performing on stage, representing their House, competing in sport or taking on leadership responsibilities, pupils are encouraged to get involved. Participation is celebrated because we believe confidence grows through experience.

Adventure & exploration

Adventure is an important part of our Learning DNA. Through the Combined Cadet Force, Duke of Edinburgh's Award, educational visits, outdoor pursuits and residential experiences, pupils develop resilience, independence and the confidence to embrace new challenges.

Leadership at every age

Leadership is developed through experience, not simply awarded through position. From mentoring younger pupils and leading House activities to supporting community initiatives and representing the student voice, pupils learn to lead with integrity, empathy and purpose.

Growth through opportunity

Sport, music, drama, STEM, debating, creative arts and more than 80 co-curricular activities ensure every pupil has the opportunity to pursue their passions, broaden their horizons and develop lifelong interests.

Sixth Form at Kimbolton is where academic ambition meets personal independence. As pupils prepare for university, apprenticeships and the wider world, they are encouraged to think critically, challenge ideas and take increasing ownership of their learning within a supportive and inspiring community.

Small class sizes and exceptional teaching allow pupils to explore their chosen A Level subjects in depth, building strong relationships with specialist teachers who know them as individuals. Lessons are characterised by discussion, enquiry and intellectual curiosity, helping pupils develop the confidence to question, analyse and communicate with maturity.

Beyond the classroom, our Sixth Form experience prepares young people for life. Leadership opportunities, enrichment, community engagement and personalised guidance encourage pupils to become confident, resilient and socially responsible young adults, ready to embrace the opportunities and challenges that lie ahead.

Academic excellence

- Pupils choose from a broad range of A Level subjects, allowing them to tailor a programme that reflects their strengths, interests and future aspirations.

Small classes. Big ambitions.

- With typically just 8–12 pupils in each class, teachers provide personalised support, intellectual challenge and expert guidance that enables every pupil to achieve their full potential.

The Kimbolton Super Curriculum

- Our Super Curriculum extends learning far beyond A Levels. Through the Extended Project Qualification (EPQ), wider reading, visiting speakers, independent research and academic enrichment, pupils develop the critical thinking, research and communication skills that universities and employers increasingly value.

Preparing for what's next

- From expert UCAS support and careers guidance to interview preparation, work experience and life skills, every pupil is supported to take their next step with confidence, whatever path they choose.
